Mock Interviews at Braunton Academy
By Rotarian Alan Jones

Mock Interviews for Braunton Academy school leavers are currently underway. Some 150 students spread over three sessions: approximately 6 students per interviewer at 40 minute intervals. Time enough to get to know one another! Pre-interview the student prepares a C.V. and a "Letter of Application”. The latter is to a College or as an actual job application. Our interview is based upon that paperwork. Before the mocks the students have attended a presentation by Patrick Farrelly of the Caen Club on what to expect and how to conduct themselves. A most useful intro for 15/16 year old’s most of whom have no experience of such heady matters.

How do they perform? Inevitably they are a mixed bunch from various backgrounds but I am strongly of the opinion that they come across very well indeed. Alert, anxious to make a favorable impression, modest (too much so at times) and sensibly purposeful. Clearly The Academy is serving its student population well. I, and my co-interviewers, sense that they will aspire to make good "John Citizens".

At the end of each interview a form is completed for each student with various categories of their performance marked accordingly. Again, mostly plusses with, hopefully, a gentle comment as to areas for improvement. That form is for their own consumption.

All in all an uplifting experience for the interviewer and a useful exercise for the students.

AND it can have its moments of challenge. At another school I was once faced with a couple of students, in succession; one claimed he wanted to open a tattoo parlour, the other claimed she wanted to be a pole-dancer. I was assured by the teacher it was not a set up!

A very merry Christmas and a happy new year to all
